

Sleep Problems

Animals in their natural state have predators and are territorial, so if anxious due to change such as a house move, new animals next door or even from visitors staying over, they can be on guard at night instead of sleeping.

Good remedies are Aconite for a recent problem, when the animal is fearful around 11pm. This is also a great remedy if your dog is keeping everyone awake coughing with kennel cough.

Arsenicum I frequently prescribe for restless pacing soon after midnight onwards, especially old animals who have some dementia or confusion due to loss of sight or hearing. Use Phosphorus for 'over-responsible' or over-vigilant territory guarders. New puppies who can't settle at night do well on Ignatia and Chamomilla. Phosphoric acid is good for an old or unwell animal who can't sleep due to excessive drinking and weeing, which happens more at night than during the day if the adrenal glands are stressed.
